

Tuesday, December 1 4:00-5:30 In Dealy 304

WE ARE THE YOUTH:

A photo-journalist project chronicling the stories of LGBTQ youth

One of the most common struggles cited by LGBTQ youth is isolation. Many LGBTQ youth don't know anyone in their school or their lives who identify as LGBTQ, and if they do, those experiences may not align with their own. Some LGBTQ youth also grapple with their religious and faith backgrounds as they come to terms with their sexual and gender identities. Come to hear about and discuss some of these struggles and how communities like ours can respond and support.

We Are the Youth was created by Laurel Golio and Diana Scholl, childhood friends and Brooklyn-based artists. Laurel is a photographer and visual anthropologist. Diana is a communications strategist at the American Civil Liberties Union. They have spoken throughout the country about LGBTQ youth, art, advocacy, sexuality, gender and digital storytelling.

Contact Orit Avishai (avishai@fordham.edu) for more information or to set up an extra credit sign-in sheet

Sponsored by the Programs in Women's Studies and Comparative Literature, the Departments of Theology, Sociology and Anthropology, Communications and Media Studies, the Center for Ethics Education, the Gender and Sexuality Working Group, and a grant from the E. Rhodes and Leona B. Carpenter Foundation